Dear Candidates,

We are writing to you and your fellow candidates running for positions on the Tacoma City Council to assess your support for a public library in the Hilltop neighborhood. We believe that public libraries continue to provide important resources to small business owners, educators, students, parents, and the general public. The wide range of benefits to communities helps ensure that Americans have access to the resources they need to improve their lives and become healthy and productive citizens. Some key benefits of libraries include the following;

Libraries connect millions of Americans to the resources they need to free themselves from poverty such as employment training, skill-building classes, financial courses, and adult education.

Libraries help entrepreneurs take their businesses from idea to reality through freely available materials on copyright and patents, marketing, manufacturing, legal issues, and access to high-quality market research databases.

Librarians help people navigate and understand the information available in an increasingly digital world in a space that provides access to high-quality information through books, databases, and high-speed Internet.

Libraries provide early childhood literacy initiatives and instruction to our nation's youth that ensure their success in all levels of education.

We would love to see you support these great institutions and make sure that our citizens have the resources they need to improve their lives. Please tell us how you--if elected--can restore library services to the Hilltop by answering the following questions.

Please respond with your answers no later than Friday, September 20.

1. What can the city do to provide quality equitable library services to members of all ages and circumstances in the Hilltop?

2. What kind of library facilities do you envision for the Hilltop? (For instance, remodeling an existing neighborhood structure, new construction, or leasing ground-floor space in a new housing project.)
3. What steps will you take to ensure a library is placed in the Hilltop?
4. What is the most important challenge facing the city in building a library in the Hilltop?

Please respond with your answers no later than Friday, September 20. We will share your responses at our next monthly committee meeting on Thursday, September 26, to which you are invited. We will then make your responses available on our website at tacomahilltoplibrary.org, publish a press release alerting the media to your responses, and promote both through social media and word-of-mouth.

Sincerely yours,

Tacoma Hilltop Library Planning Committee
